Roedel out, Hilderley in for TPS supt.

Rick Hilderley

After months of a search process that included input from teachers, staff, and the community, the interviews of six candidates, and a stalemate after the second interviews of three finalists, Tecumseh Public School (TPS) district is on the verge of welcoming a new superintendent in Rick Hilderley, who previously worked at TPS as a teacher and principal for 27 years from 1990-2017.

During deliberation after the second interviews Wednesday, Sept. 25, Wayne Roedel, superintendent of Fowlerville Community Schools, had the support of four of the seven school board members, while three members favored Hilderley. Donna Oser of the Michigan Association of School Boards moderated the interviews and following discussion, and cautioned the board to discuss their pros and cons for each candidate and abstain from a vote until they were able to come to a unanimous decision.

When the meeting stretched into six hours and there was no indication of a meeting of the minds, Oser recommended the board table decision-making and gather more information in the form of telephone calls to people in the districts where both Roedel and Hilderley are currently employed, as well as making site visits to their districts. After the meeting ended, she called both candidates to inform them of the plan.

On Thursday morning, Roedel sent an email to Teri Hoeft, executive assistant to the superintendent, informing the district he was withdrawing from the search.

"Roedel said he didn't want to put his district through that turmoil," said Board President Tim Simpson regarding the site visit. "We respect his decision."

During a special meeting Friday, Sept. 27, the board approved a motion to begin contract negotiations with Hilderley, and appointed Simpson and board member Mike McNamara to handle those negotiations.

Organization partners with others to enlist disabled veterans in deer hunts

For Tom Jones, helping those with disabilities experience the outdoors is a cause close to his heart. A 34-year-old combat veteran of the 101st Airborne Division "Air Assault," he served during two tours to Iraq in 2003-2004 and 2005-2006. He is also the president, founder, and project coordinator of Michigan Operation Freedom Outdoors (MiOFO), an organization that partners with other entities to bring disabled individuals a sense of normalcy and the ability to get out into the woods.

"I had a tough reintegration when I came back," he said. "I got really good at advocating for myself and not giving up." He said he learned how to advocate for others, as well. When the opportunity arose to use his skills to help other veterans, he jumped at the chance.

The idea began in 2014 when a group of people started talking about the need for such a program for disabled veterans. The Michigan Department of Natural Resources (DNR) and other partners were looking for someone to build and administer the program, and Jones was hired. In its beginning stages it didn't have a solid structure, so Jones decided to make the cause his own and develop what is now a thriving nonprofit organization. "I started to see that I was good at it and I could link groups together that worked well, and worked for the common goal," he said.

After a year and a half the partners told Jones he had surpassed their goals for their strategic plan, and they let him run with the Church offering free weekly meals seeks support at Saturday benefit

By JACKIE KOCH
jackie@tecumsehherald.com

Seven years ago a few people from the congregation of the Tipton Community Congregational Church had an idea to start a weekly dinner to feed the hungry in their community. That idea has continued and has grown monumentally as God's Helping Hands, now feeding six times the amount of people served at its beginning. This Saturday, Oct. 5, the church will hold a turkey dinner to raise funds to be able to continue their ministry of feeding the surrounding community.

The Reverend Eric Hickman was newly installed as pastor at the church when Glenn and Cheryl Mattison and Chuck and Julia Foreman came up with the plan to cook a meal on a Saturday night and open it up for free to whomever needed it. Twenty-five people showed up. "Now we're serving about 150 meals at each one of our dinners," said Hickman. "Big change."

Private donations and church donations fund the dinners. "We do have donation boxes that are up during the dinners and some people contribute to that," he

I am delighted to report that I became another year older this week.

Delighted, you ask? Yes, because even though adding another year to one's age seems cringe-worthy to some, I am happy that I'm alive and kicking, with opportunities every day to enjoy my presence on this earth. Birthdays are a gift.

I've heard of people being upset that they turned 40. They're just getting started! Every year brings many gifts, I've found, as long as I keep my eyes and mind open.

Diane Keaton is 73 years old. Besides having a long list of film credits, she posts fantastic photos on Instagram and writes in ALL CAPS in every one. She's still acting and just wrapped up a new film, has a wonderfully quirky fashion sense, and makes me feel like there are no "rules" for aging. I need more role models like that.

Julia Child worked in advertising for most of her life, but her love of cooking led to her first cookbook at age 50, which turned her into one of the first celebrity chefs. I remember watching her show "The French Chef" on weekends on public television, laughing at how she didn't give a darn about the mess she made. She tossed food scraps around and had a good time while demonstrating her skills, then ended the show with a glass of wine and a taste of her creation.

I'm doing okay with this aging thing. I do think about mortality a bit more than I used to, but for me that's a good thing, as it propels me to do things I want to do even if I am unsure of the outcome. Sometimes I just take the leap and do something I've been thinking about, with a "no guts, no glory," attitude, and then I wait to see what happens, keeping an open mind about the results. I call it the "set it and forget it" mode of operation, like that of the old Ronco cookers "Sold only on TV!" by Ron Popeil.

I believe trying is a better state to be in than inertia, and the best thing is knowing I can continue to try new things and change my outlook. Poet and author Maya Angelou said, "What you're supposed to do when you don't like a thing is change it. If you can't change it, change the way you think about it. Don't complain."

A lot of people take their complaining very seriously and make it into an art form that they practice every day. I've decided I'd rather focus on the serenity prayer, "God, grant me the serenity to accept the things I cannot change, courage to change the things I can, and wisdom to know the difference."

Getting older has definite benefits, and one of them is finding that wisdom to know the difference.

Angelou also said, "I've learned that no matter what happens, or how bad it seems today, life does go on, and it will be better tomorrow," and "I've learned that making a 'living' is not the same thing as making a 'life.' I've learned that life sometimes gives you a second chance. I've learned that you shouldn't go through life with a catcher's mitt on both hands; you need to be able to throw something back. I've learned that whenever I decide something with an open heart, I usually make the right decision. I've learned that even when I have pains, I don't have to be one. I've learned that every day you should reach out and touch someone. People love a warm hug, or just a friendly pat on the back. I've learned that I still have a lot to learn. I've learned that people will forget what you said, people will forget what you did, but people will never forget how you made them feel."

Continuing to learn throughout life is a recipe for a sharp mind and increased possibilities. I like the sound of that. Along with learning, one of my most important goals is to care for people. Having people in my life is a gift. Ultimately that is my life's work, the focus on loving people in general whether we are new friends or old. I hope I do it well, and I hope they remember how I made them feel.

God's Helping Hands serves 150 meals weekly at Tipton Community Congregational Church, fundraiser set for Saturday said. "Usually it does not cover the cost of the meal."

The dinners cost between $200 per week up to $500, depending on what's being prepared. Main courses vary from meatloaf, Swiss steak, and ham to hamburgers, hotdogs and kielbasa.

The God's Helping Hands board meets to decide what food is needed for that Saturday's menu and then volunteers do the weekly shopping to start preparing for the dinner. Some of the ingredients come from a state food bank, and the rest are purchased at places like Gordon Foods, Sam's Club, and Jerry's Market in Tecumseh. "We try to go where we can find prices that are reasonable to help cut down on our costs," said Hickman.

He said God's Helping Hands is always open to volunteers, who need to have health department training to get a food safety card in order to prepare food, but who can perform other jobs without the card. Initial preparation for the dinners begins on Friday, and early Saturday morning anywhere from 6 - 8 a.m. the team begins to work on the meal to have it ready to serve by 4:30 p.m. There can be anywhere from 12 to 15 people cooking, serving, cleaning tables, washing dishes and completing other tasks.

The turkey dinner fundraiser will take place Saturday, Oct. 5 from 4:30-6:30 p.m. at the church, 9240 Tipton Hwy., Tipton. Meals will cost $10 for adults, $5 for children aged six to 10, and children five and under eat for free. A drive through carryout service will be implemented at the event, as well, under a tent at the front of the church. Hickman said volunteers are planning to make 350 meals for the event, and there will also be a bake sale. The church is handicap accessible.

"We're hoping that it will help us being able to fund a lot more dinners and get us through for a while," Hickman said of the fundraiser. "It gets tight at times and we sit and worry how we're going to be able to pull off another dinner or two, and then a contribution comes in to help us cover it."

In addition to the fundraising dinner, the church accepts non-perishable food for their food pantry for the hungry and will have donation containers out at the dinner for those who would like to contribute more to the cause. Donation checks may also be mailed to the church.

The dinners have done more than just fill people's stomachs. "We started this with the idea that people have a difficult time financially, and we thought maybe the seniors and some folks who were having a hard time would like to come and get a free meal," Hickman said. "We have since learned that a lot of seniors who are at home alone and can afford meals, they love to just come and laugh and carry on with other human beings. It's just a time for them to get out and it's good socially for them."

Pastor Eric Hickman at the Tipton Community Congregational Church located at 9240 Tipton Hwy.

LCHD encourages mosquito bite prevention

ADRIAN — The Lenawee County Health Department (LCHD) continues to encourage residents to protect themselves from mosquito bites as nine cases of Eastern Equine Encephalitis (EEE) have been confirmed in residents of Barry, Berrien, Calhoun, Cass, Kalamazoo, and Van Buren counties, including three deaths. As of Sept. 27, 2019, EEE has been confirmed in 27 animals in 13 counties: Barry, Berrien, Calhoun, Cass, Genesee, Jackson, Kalamazoo, Kent, Lapeer, Montcalm, Newaygo, St. Joseph, and Van Buren. An EEE vaccine is available for horses, but not for people.

While there have been no confirmed cases of EEE in Lenawee County, residents are encouraged to take precautions against mosquito bites, such as applying insect repellants that contain the active ingredient DEET or other U.S. Environmental Protection Agency-registered products to exposed skin or clothing, and always follow the manufacturer's directions for use.

Additional precautions include wearing long-sleeved shirts and long pants when outdoors, and applying insect repellent to clothing to help prevent bites; maintaining window and door screening to help keep mosquitos outside; emptying water from mosquito breeding sites around the home, such as buckets, unused kiddie pools, old tires or similar sites where mosquitoes may lay eggs; and using nets and or fans over outdoor eating areas.

Residents are encouraged to be particularly cautious during outdoor activities occurring at or after dusk. These precautions should be followed until the first hard frost of the year.

EEE is one of the most dangerous mosquito-borne diseases in the United States, with a 33 percent fatality rate in people who become ill. People can be infected with EEE from the bite of a mosquito carrying the viruses. Persons younger than age 15 and over age 50 are at greatest risk of severe disease following infection.

For more information on EEE and other mosquito-borne diseases, visit michigan.gov/emergingdiseases.

VETERANS FROM 1A

MiOFO offers to assist Tecumseh with deer cull program and his ideas. He incorporated it into a 501(c)(3) nonprofit in September 2017. The Eisenhower Center, a traumatic brain injury rehabilitation and recovery facility, pays his salary, and the DNR allows him to use a state building in Jackson County where he does his organizational work. Garmin International puts on a golf fundraiser for the MiOFO every year that has covered his operating budget so far.

MiOFO's mission is to provide outstanding outdoor recreation opportunities to wounded veterans and individuals with health challenges and to coordinate a support network that facilitates their recovery through connecting with nature. To that end, Jones said the organization has partnerships with the DNR, the Eisenhower Center, the Michigan United Conservation Clubs, and the UAW Ford Motor Company ramp team, a community outreach program that builds wheelchair accessible ramps and has built accessible 8-foot by 8-foot wildlife viewing blinds for the game area where the hunts take place. The Union Sportsmen's Alliance joined in and is matching the funds for costs of materials for the blinds.

MiOFO activities are centered around DNR-managed Sharonville State Game Area, 22 miles northwest of Tecumseh. The DNR allocated 700 acres for Jones to host the restricted/disabled hunts for three seasons and then they would decide if they would continue allowing him to use the land.

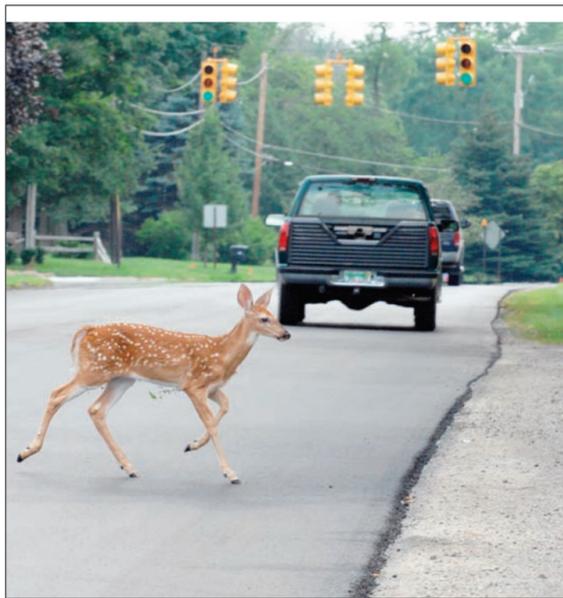

He said the first year he had to figure out how to deal with members of the public who were accustomed to using the game area for the past 20 years. Some people didn't understand having their hunting area co-opted by MiOFO. "Once the public started seeing what we were all about, the same guys that were all sour about it were helping us out at deer camp and volunteering," he said. After the three years, the DNRC told Jones the program had been so successful that he could run the program on those 700 acres indefinitely.

"As Michiganders we own 12 percent of Michigan, that's how much makes up public lands, and I'm just trying to make it more accessible for everyone. If you're bound to a chair and you see a Pure Michigan commercial, you might get emotional because you can't go out and do those kinds of things," Jones said. "That's where we come in. We've improved so many miles of trails." MiOFO offers Action Trackchairs and accessible blinds around the Sharonville State Game Area, as well as hunting guides to assist outdoorspeople one-on-one.

The impact on participants is meaningful, he said. "You can't really describe it. I've pulled tracked wheelchairs out of the blind for people and have them start to instantly cry, because they've been getting drug up to deer camp on a sled the past 15 years. I have people come up with MS, people who have gotten in recent accidents who were always outdoorsmen or women."

Jones visited a Tecumseh City Council meeting in September to ask for the opportunity to assist the city with the deer overpopulation, which his organization did for four years in Manchester. "I would do it for free with 100% disabled veterans and individuals who have a permit to hunt from a standing vehicle, have a permit to use a laser-sighted device, or are legally blind," he said. "A lot of them are on fixed incomes and disability and don't necessarily have opportunities to go out and have hunts like that." He said the hunts not only helped reduce the deer population, it saved the village money "We saved the taxpayers of Manchester $100,000," he said. The council has yet to decide on that issue.

Anyone interested in taking part in MiOFO activities can visit the website at miofo.

org for more information. The organization is also hosting the David Pollie Classic essay contest, which will award a tracked wheelchair for greater accessibility to outdoor recreation to the winning essay subject who has a medical need for that type of device and who has no other means of obtaining it. The contest is named after David Pollie, who was injured in his youth and became paralyzed. His standard wheelchairs limited his ability to enjoy one of his greatest pleasures — time spent outdoors hunting with his brother. His family was able to come up with part of the cost, and a donor contributed the rest. Submissions for the contest will be accepted until October 15. Visit the website for more information.

Your Right to Know

The Leaders of the Republican Caucus in the Michigan House of Representatives want to pull public notices from newspapers and allow governmental entities (cities, villages, township, counties, etc.) to satisfy notice requirements by putting them on their websites. This is an unprecedented blow to governmental transparency and due process.

A version of this legislation has been introduced in each legislative session for the past 12 years and has failed. Why? Because then, as now, it is a bad idea.

From the very start, Michigan law has required that notices of governmental actions be provided to citizens by publication in newspapers, an independent source of information about the actions of government. Now, legislators are proposing to end this important check on governmental power.

The Michigan Press Association has been told that this issue is in the top five priorities of the Speaker of the House. With crumbling roads, failing schools and escalating health care costs, we fail to see government control over messaging as being on any citizen's list of priorities.

The legislators in support of this movement say that this will save money... but how? Is this the one exception to the Republican's embrace of privatization? It defies logic that government can do this better and cheaper than newspapers, who have provided this valuable check and balance for more than 150 years.

A quick glance at some local government websites doesn't give one comfort that things will be done well under this new scheme. A couple of shining examples: one township website lists among its elected officials a Congressman who has been deceased for several years. Another has not updated meeting agendas since 2014.

We have long advocated that these notices belong in newspapers and protect due process in Michigan. We do however acknowledge that they also need to be distributed digitally and are working hard with our members to make sure that they are accessible on a computer, mobile device AND in print. This increases transparency and protects your right to know what government officials are doing with your taxpayer dollars.

Citizens of this state have been the victim of Equifax, Capitol One, The Department of Veterans Affairs and many other online entities as their personal online information has been compromised. The information you trust local leaders to provide to you regarding your taxes, property and other important issues in your community shouldn't be made vulnerable to a similar fate.

Even if the lack of security is not considered, the lack of connectivity should be. Michigan ranks 30th in the nation for broadband connectivity. Rural areas still pose a challenge for those trying to use the internet.

Public notices belong in a public place, like a local newspaper, not on a government website, which can also disenfranchise certain users, like low income individuals who do not have access to the internet, or the elderly who are not comfortable using the internet. Having to look for notices on each individual government site would be laborious at best and a good way to conceal information at worst.

We at Michigan newspapers take the responsibility of keeping you informed very seriously. Whether it be making sure Freedom of Information and Open Meetings laws are being followed or proper notice of things like zoning that might put a landfill in your neighborhood is happening. We remain the vital watchdogs we always have been in our communities.

Michigan Citizens stand to lose up to 50% of mental health providers in some counties

LARA (Michigan's Department of Legislative and Regulatory Affairs) has decided to repeal most of the rules that define an LPC's (licensed professional counselor) scope of practice. These rules have been recognized as part of the LPC's scope of practice since 1988. This change would artificially limit LPC's current scope of practice, therefore limiting their ability to bill insurance. These rule changes will put all LPCs immediately out of practice and will ensure that ALL Michiganders will have less access to mental health care.

More than 300,000 people across the state of Michigan will immediately lose all counseling services, should this go into effect. This change will not only affect clients, but will also have a detrimental affect on more than 10,000 LPCs across the state of Michigan. LPCs who are locked into office leases and mortgages will have no way to access income. In Lenawee County many of the providers at agencies and in private practices are LPCs. Our county and state are already understaffed with mental health workers. This will directly affect our county and society as a whole.

The public can address their concerns regarding this issue by asking legislature (Michigan House and Senate) to vote YES on HB 4325 without amendments via emails, phone or in person:

Senator Dale Zorn

Call Gov. Whitmer: 517-373-3400

Attend the public hearing and give a statement about how losing LPCs will directly affect you on Friday, Oct. 4 at 9 a.m. at the G. Mennen Williams Building Auditorium, 535 Ottawa St., Lansing.

Contact LARA at BPL-BoardSupport@Michigan.gov. Tell LARA you want to keep your provider. You want to have a choice. You do NOT want to have an even longer wait to see a mental health professional.

him tomorrow, and hopefully we can get everything ironed out and then bring it back to the board, and then the board can vote on the contract," Simpson said on Monday. Although he was not sure when that would happen, he said it was possible the board would vote on Hilderley's contract at the next regularly scheduled board meeting on October 14.

According to Simpson, if all goes well Hilderley could be taking his place as superintendent by the end of October or beginning of November, bringing to an end the lengthy period of upheaval that saw the district without a permanent superintendent since Dr. Kelly Coffin and the board came to a mutual separation agreement in January. The district saw the appointment and subsequent resignation of three interim superintendents in three months earlier this year before bringing on retired athletic director and teacher Greg Lewis in May to take the helm until they could find a replacement.

Hilderley began his teaching career as an elementary and middle school teacher in Tecumseh in 1990, after student teaching in the district during his college days at Siena Heights University (then Siena Heights College). In 1998 he became a building principal, serving at both Herrick Park and Patterson elementary schools, and he was principal of the district's middle school from 2005 to 2017, when he left to take the superintendent position at Bronson Community Schools.

Simpson said he was glad to get to this point. "It feels good. It's been a long process," he said. "I think we had three really good candidates there at the end."

New tunnel is best way to protect the Great Lakes and great jobs

Since I joined the state Legislature in 2011, I have tried to put my real-world experience as a small business owner, local government official and avid outdoorsman to use to improve our state, protect our outdoors and help create good jobs for workers. These three goals were the main reasons I supported legislation last year to replace the aging Line 5 pipeline currently on the bottom of the Straits of Mackinac with a new pipeline housed in a multiuse tunnel 100 feet under the straits.

Construction of a tunnel to hold a replacement pipeline is the best long-term option to remove the existing 66-year-old pipeline from the Great Lakes and protect both our environment and our economy. The tunnel would virtually eliminate any risk to the Great Lakes while enabling the safe transportation of energy resources to homeowners in the U.P. and refineries here in the Toledo and Detroit areas.

Unfortunately, Michigan's attorney general is trying to stop the construction of the tunnel and shut down the existing pipeline altogether. Closing the Line 5 pipeline without a viable replacement in place is irresponsible and could have a devastating impact to our state and region.

To transport energy without the pipeline would require tens of thousands more rail cars and trucks as well as oil-carrying barges and tankers on the Great Lakes — at a much greater risk to our water and our roads.

Officials at the Toledo Refining Co. have said that 550 jobs could be lost if Line 5 were to be shut down. Workers at the Toledo-area BP-Husky refinery and the Marathon Petroleum refinery in Detroit would also be affected. In addition to the lost jobs, shutting down the pipeline without the tunnel to replace it would impact millions of other Michigan families through increased prices for gasoline, jet fuel at Detroit Metro Airport, and propane used to heat most homes in rural communities.

I regularly hear the concerns from local residents about the impact if the state shuts down Line 5 without the tunnel. Their concerns are shared by many area leaders, including Ohio Gov. Mike DeWine, who sent Gov. Whitmer a letter this summer urging her not to shut down the pipeline.

Sometimes the simplest solution is the best one. In this case, that is to let Enbridge construct a $500 million tunnel — at its own cost — below the Straits of Mackinac, put a new Line 5 pipeline safely in it, and remove the existing pipeline from the Great Lakes.

Chef Joseph VanWagner leading the kitchen at Evans Street Station

From the Evans Street Station

A new chef has taken the helm at Evans Street Station, one of Southeast Michigan's most widely acclaimed restaurants. Chef Joe VanWagner is serving up a hand-crafted menu of beautiful, seasonally inspired food, sourced from local farmers and producers. His innovative cooking style is sure to delight guests of Evans Street Station, who travel from far and wide to experience its gracious hospitality and sample items from its constantly evolving menu.

"We are thrilled to have a chef of Joe's caliber leading our kitchen," said Elizabeth Kennedy, general manager and co-owner of Evans Street Station. "He is one of the best chefs in the Midwest and shares our commitment to providing a one-of-a-kind dining experience for our guests."

Stints as a chef under Blaine Wetzel at the famed Willows Inn (WA), Sous Chef to Jimmy Bannos Jr. at Chicago's famed Purple Pig, Chef de Cuisine to Luciano Del Signore at Michigan's beloved Bacco, and a myriad of stages in some of the best restaurants in the world have helped to shape Joe's modern and playful approach to food.

Chef Joe's culinary roots reach back to the shores of Southwest Michigan's fruit belt, where he grew up fishing, hunting, and exploring its many beaches and farms. During his adolescence, Joe also spent time washing dishes, picking fruit at his friends' blueberry farms, and even cooking food in some of the local diners. This humble passion for food and service was intensified at Michigan State University, where he graduated with a degree in Hospitality Business.

After school, VanWagner quickly found his way into restaurant management at one of Chicago's most renowned fine dining establishments; a culinary experience so profound that it inspired him to make his way into the kitchen and never turn back. Since this pivotal point in 2009, Chef Joe has worked professionally in some of the best kitchens Chicago, Metro Detroit and the world have to offer. Most recently, he manned the kitchens at Chartreuse and Bistro 82, both Restaurant of the Year winners.

In early 2019, VanWagner made the difficult decision to leave his comfortable status here in the States and travel to Europe where he spent time in some of the world's best kitchens; an endeavor that would change the course of his culinary life forever. Always looking to infuse local ingredients with true creativity and modern techniques, Chef Joe's aim is to develop a progressive culinary touchstone for Michigan for years to come.

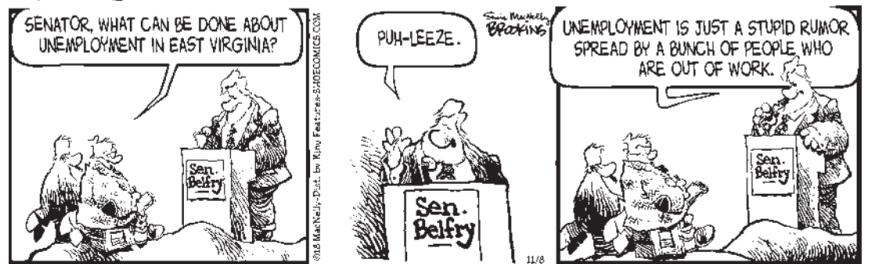

VanWagner's food has been described as hyperlocal, modern, Midwest cuisine, a repertoire he plans to build on in vibrant downtown Tecumseh at Evans Street Station. Pushing the envelope is what keeps the menu fresh and interesting. It is Evans Street's ever-changing offerings, along with its unique location, that keeps diners coming back for more. The eatery is housed in downtown Tecumseh's former fire station. The only clues indicating the building's previous incarnation are the red exterior paint and the siren that sits prominently on the rooftop. Inside, guests can relax in the beautifully appointed interior featuring warm mahogany wood and a stately fieldstone fireplace.

"I'm so grateful and excited to be at Evans Street" added VanWagner. "Truth be told, I never saw myself working outside of the city, possibly not even in the US again. Yet, here I find myself in a beautiful agricultural and artisan community that is ready for new food experiences. What an inspiring place for a chef. We've been working on a lot of exciting new things."

With a new chef at the helm and a bounty of fresh, local produce just waiting to be harvested, Evans Street Station is gearing up for an exciting and diverse fall menu.

Queen To Reign at Homecoming

Tecumseh's annual homecoming festivities will be underway here shortly after two o'clock Friday afternoon with a parade through the downtown district.

Officials expect to have 11 floats in the parade, both the varsity and cadet bands, and the queen candidates and court. It is the biggest school parade of the year.

The floats are currently being constructed by all four high school classes and the various clubs and organizations. Float winners will be announced at the Tecumseh-Monroe Jefferson game Friday night.

Candidates for the queen are Marsha Cantrell, Donna Osburn and Lorrie Beevers, all seniors. Class representatives for the court are Cindy Perrin, junior class; Shirley Drouillard, sophomores; and Ginnie Ousterhout, freshmen.

Lorrie is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Beevers; Marsha is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ottis Cantrell; Donna, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Drouillard and Ginnie the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Ousterhout.

The queen will be selected by vote Thursday at the high school and announced at the game.

Thursday night, hundreds of students are expected at the annual pep rally, held before a homecoming game at the athletic field. After the game, the homecoming dance will be held in the gym.

Tecumseh is favored to make it four straight here Friday evening by beating the Bears. If the Indians are successful, it will end a three-year habit of losing the homecoming game.

Man Arrested in Area Barn

Garth Leslie Walter, 33, of 236 W. Church St., Adrian, was arrested by Clinton State Police at 10:50 p.m. Sunday, when he was discovered in a barn owned by Raymond Service, 4797 Clinton-Macon Rd.

The officers were patrolling the area when they noticed an empty automobile parked near the Service barn, which is adjacent to the highway, and the car's motor was still running.

The two officers circled the barn, and Walter was seen inside the doorway as they approached.

He told officers he was on his way to work at Peerless Gear in Clinton, and since employees are not permitted into the plant before the shift change, he was "killing time" when he drove down Clinton-Macon Rd. and saw a "flash of light" in the Service barn, and stopped to look.

He appeared for arraignment before Judge Yale Leland Kerby Tuesday morning and a plea of not guilty was entered for him on the charge of entering a building without permission. He waived request for a jury trial.

He was released on his own recognizance to appear for trial before Judge Kerby on Oct. 23 at 1:30 p.m.

$750 Given by Boosters

A check for $750 for band equipment was presented to Band Director Don Johnson from the Tecumseh Band Boosters at the Sept. 23 meeting in the Junior High Band room.

Efforts of members for Tag Day, cooperation of the parents on other fund-raising projects, and the generosity of several service clubs made the check possible for new equipment.

Forty members attended when President William Kukral named the committees for the year.

The new Calendar of Events and Faculty Directory Book of Tecumseh High School, 1969-70, compiled by club members, was on display. The decision to sell the booklets for 25¢ at the high school, Flanders Music Store, Lamb's Pharmacy and the Party Shop was made.

Announcement is made by Mr. Kukral that any parent with a child in band from fifth grade up is automatically a member of the Band Boosters. He also stated that notes preceding the meetings are sent home with the students, urging attendance.

Foundation Sets Division Goal in Campaign to Reach $59,831

Tecumseh's 10th annual Community Fund Foundation drive will start next week with the industrial division beginning solicitations in local plants.

Local goal is $59,831, up about $2,000 from last year.

Merlyn Downing, vice-president at United Savings Bank, is general chairman of the campaign and has met repeatedly with key personnel to assure a successful drive. They've determined goals, secured workers and established a timetable for completion of the campaign.

For the first time in the 10-year history of the Foundation, goals have been established for all divisions. These goals were set with consideration to the average giving in like areas in other communities of comparable size.

These goals are:

- Residential — $3,000.
- Business — $5,000.
- Professional — $2,000.
- Hospital — $700.
- Public schools — $1,000.
- Special gifts — $8,000.
- Industrial — $42,000.

Harry Farrell and Ed Rapin are heading the industrial campaign; Vern Manwaring and Ray Dollison, business; Robert French, professional; Mrs. Joseph Galazzo and Mrs. William Steele Jr., residential; Robert Duhan, schools; and William Groover, hospital.

Earl Mason is treasurer for the drive, and Mrs. Steele is in charge of publicity.

Next week has been devoted to the industrial campaign, and the week of Oct. 13th will see the other campaigns kicked off. Completion for the entire drive is scheduled for Oct. 18.

Three points of note are being emphasized in the drive for a successful campaign. They are:

- "Fair share" giving by everyone, and this is considered vital if the entire drive is successful and the goal attained.
- Additional of a "magic square" and tennis courts at Tecumseh Park can only be constructed if the entire announced goal is reached. The Foundation is obligated to meet its responsibilities to all other charities first.
- And, persons employed outside the city of Tecumseh should remember that their pledge will only reach the city if they indicate "Tecumseh" — not Lenawee County — on their pledge card. Our drive is not a member of the county drive and pledges sent to the county do not reach Tecumseh unless a special request is made.

The "magic square" and tennis courts at the Park are estimated to cost approximately $12,500. Over $47,000 must be raised before the Foundation here benefits from any donation. About one-third of each contribution, providing the goal is reached, stays here in the city for our betterment, and approximately two thirds goes to outside charities.

Principal industrial contributors are Tecumseh Products, Fisher Body, Tecumseh Corrugated Box, H. W. Tuttle Co., Faraday and Ottawa Machine. Peerless Gear donations are channeled through the Products.

Stauffer Chemical has omitted Tecumseh from its corporate gift for several years, and only donations there are from local employees who specify their contribution for Tecumseh. Stauffer, however, has given considerable monies to the county fund.

Industry has always been a major factor in the campaign and is expected to be again this year.

Officials are also hoping that folks in other divisions will give their "fair share" towards attaining the goal.

Besides Park improvements, the Foundation helps to subsidize the city recreation program to the tune of $8,500 per year.

The 1969 distribution of monies is:

- Tecumseh Park $12,500
- Family, Children's Counseling $4,000
- American Red Cross $6,200
- Catholic Social Services $3,000
- Huron Valley Guidance Clinic $1,000
- Irish Hills Girl Scout Council $4,000
- Lenawee County Humane Society $500
- Michigan United Fund $8,256
- Salvation Army $1,800
- City of Tecumseh $8,500
- Tecumseh Scout Cabin Association $875
- Tecumseh Service Club $1,200
- Tuckabatchee Council $1,000
- Wolverine Council Boy Scouts $5,000
- YMCA of Lenawee County $1,000
- Administration Costs $1,000

Tractor Topples, Pins Fay Whelan Against Cable

Fay Whelan, Tecumseh implement dealer, escaped serious injury about noon Monday when a garden tractor he was driving tipped over and pinned him against a cable.

The accident occurred behind his home in Herrick Park and on a steep slope. Firemen, who responded to the call, report that the cable prevented him and the tractor from tumbling to the bottom.

Mr. Whelan sought treatment later in the day from his doctor but apparently did not suffer any serious injuries.

Clinton wins ninth consecutive match of season

BY JEFF STEERS
Special writer

Robenson Schaffner of Clinton High School scored his first hat trick at the varsity level, helping the Redskins win their ninth consecutive match.

The sophomore scored two goals in the first half and one to start the second half in a 5-1 win over Grass Lake on Monday.

Clinton improves to 10-6 overall, 9-3 in the Independent Soccer League following the win.

Coach Marla Erickson said the winning streak is a combination of players working together and looking to possess the ball better.

Schaffner scored his first goal unassisted as he chipped the ball over a defender and then beat the Grass Lake goalie in the first half.

The goal gave Clinton a 2-1 lead midway through the first half. Clinton's Theo Manias scored the first goal of the game nine minutes into the contest.

Grass Lake did not waste any time tying the game at 1-1 as Louis Good scored less than 30 seconds later.

Schaffner scored his second goal of the game in just over 10 minutes remaining in the first half.

His third goal – 95 seconds into the second half – was a thing of beauty. He split a pair of defenders on the play and put the ball over the goalie.

Schaffner said he wasn't thinking about the hat trick.

"I just went up and chipped the ball over the goalie's head," Schaffner said. "I was thinking about what was good for the team."

Indian boys soccer plays hard against Chelsea, comes up short Tecumseh Varsity boys soccer suffered a defeat against Chelsea on October 1, 2-1. Scoreless first half saw both teams with a few quality scoring chances. Chelsea owned the first 10-12 minutes of the game but the Indians re-organized and created chances of their own.

Chelsea scored their first goal in the second half on a penalty kick and soon after went up 2-0. With nearly four minutes left, Connor Hoshield drilled a shot into the back of the net off a throw in from Zack Wright. The Indians continued to pressure hard at the end but fell short.

Victor Coscarelli put in a great effort and Liam Cornish made several big saves.

On September 26, Tecumseh had a tough first half against Lincoln despite good control of the field. Wright put THS up 1-0 off a corner kick. Lincoln came back quickly when their forward got behind Tecumseh's back line and tied the score. Just before the half, Tecumseh had a great crossing pass that bounced off a Lincoln player. Giving Tecumseh the lead again, 2-1.

There wasn't much that needed to change at half, just to emphasize pressing the ball hard. That paid off and the Indians really took control, possessing the ball for much of the half. Dylan Brewer, Wright, Gibson Wilke and Leo Cifaldi all had nice goals. Hoshield, and Coscarelli played outstanding, ensuring THS maintained possession and got great play from playes on the outside, Brewer, Ryan Somsel and Logan Dempsey.

THS is in a three way tie for the league title with Dexter and Chelsea. Next week the Indians play in the SEC White tournament and that will shake out who will win the league. It's been a pretty exciting last couple weeks.

KIWANIS FROM 1A

Popular Kiwanis Club travelogue series returns to the TCA

day, Oct. 8, with “The Making of California.” Hosted by filmmaker Gray Warriner, the history of California is highlighted beginning with the ‘49ers Gold Rush. Although the film highlights the natural beauty of the state, Warriner’s focus is on the changes to California after World War II and the creation of the Shasta Dam, which turned a desert into an oasis.

On Tuesday, Nov. 12, Marlin Darrah takes armchair travelers to “Southern England” stopping at Southampton, Dover, and Canterbury. The trip highlights connections of Southern England to the Titanic, WWII, religion, and finishes up exploring the bustling city of London.

On Tuesday, Jan. 14, Tom Sterling leads the way to “Bhutan: The Cloud Kingdom.” A country set on the eastern side of the Himalayan Mountains, Bhutan was hidden away for 1100 years after it separated from Tibet in the eighth century. The focus on Buddhism and respect for the natural world combined with a bright palate of colors give this small country the reputation of being Shangri-La.

On Tuesday, Feb. 11, Tom Sterling again plays tour guide, this time in “Remembering Hells Canyon.” Vintage film and photos from 1942 document a trip through this canyon in the Great Northwest following a river and deep gorge that wind through Washington, Idaho and Oregon.

Photographer Rich Reid shares his experiences exploring the northern part of the United States on Tuesday, March 10, with “On Assignment: Alaska.” His 30 years photographing the beauty of landscapes, nature and animals make him the perfect guide to show off this breathtaking state.

The season closes out on Tuesday, April 14, as Darrah leads the way to “Spain and Portugal.” Each city visited from Lisbon to Barcelona shows a world that celebrates old and new, and guides viewers through many different experiences through two fascinating countries.

Designed to be an activity for all ages, the Kiwanis travelogues are filled with interesting information and beautiful photography. The money raised goes toward the Kiwanis service to children in the Tecumseh area and fulfills the organization’s motto “Dedicated to changing the world one child and one community at a time.”
